Product description

- In the 135i (E82/E88) with series brake system, the 17" BMW Performance RA brake disc can be installed on the rear axle without additional measures.
- For cars with 17" BMW Performance brake system kit No. 0 443 865, 0 444 766 or 0 444 769, the 17" BMW Performance RA brake disc can be installed on the rear axle without additional measures.
- Drilled and grooved, internally-ventilated brake disc for the rear axle
- Not available as standard

Sales features/benefits

- Drill holes and grooves on the BMW Performance rear axle brake discs reduce the build-up of a film of water between the brake pad and the brake disc.
- More attractive appearance
- Highlights sportiness, particularly in the case of alloy wheels with an open wheel design.
- Brake discs are wear parts; the drilled and grooved, internally-ventilated brake discs can be offered to the customer as an alternative in the 135i (E82/E88) and for the above-mentioned kit numbers for the BMW Performance brake system when changing the brake pads.

Note

We recommend, when installing the BMW Performance RA Sport brake discs, that new brake pads are also installed.

The car must be driven carefully for the first 200 km after the installation of the brake system! After this, the full effectiveness of the braking system is assured.

In view of the design feature of the drilled brake discs, function-related noise can be generated during braking that has absolutely no impact on the stability of the brake discs! ◀
